Learn About Elder Law

Even though aging parents may be healthy and doing well now, their situation can change very quickly. It is important to know what legal issues you may need to address ahead of time. If a crisis arises with your aging parents, you will have enough to handle without having to learn how to navigate all the legal issues at that time.

Deborah Rysso, Elder Law Attorney

Deborah Rysso, Elder law Attorney, will present a community program discussing legal issues of aging parents such as estate planning, wills, probate, power of attorney, and Medicaid for nursing home residents.

Deborah Rysso practices at Rizzo & Associates, PLC in Traverse City.

Open to the public
Free of charge.
